Recd. 9/26-

Dear Folks: —

Its been almost three weeks now since I last received any word from you. I know that its not your fault, but its really disheartening not to get an occdissional letter. I don't know any one down here well enough to bat around with, let alone the fact that I'm broke again, and time hangs heavy, all add up to a very poor time being had by this member of the clan.

To alleviate the pecunary problem, I have dropped the war bond, and hope that this will give me enough to last out the months hereafter.

I say months, but they will probably add up to a year before I see myself becoming a free man again. I have the grand total of 40 points, which is enough to hit the army of occupation, but because of being ex-infantry and being in limited assignment, I don't think that I'll partake of some.

I'm at a loss as to what to write about. The weather has been rotten lately, and I've been staying in reading a good deal and seeing the movies in our detachment theatre.

So — waiting for some news from home I'll quit —

Love — Bruce.

Incidentally how did the hurricane affect the Homestead place?
I hope that they got all the fruit off in time.
